

La Table des Amis de Provence invites you to join us for a private winery visit and lunch at Mas de Bret
Saint-Étienne-du-Grès
Friday 18 April 2025
10h00 - 14h30

The winery is located near Saint Étienne- du-Grès on the north side of the Alpilles. This valley has been a land of vines for centuries, but the vagaries of life had led to everything being uprooted.

Jean-Luc Placet and Frédéric Petitbon, owners of Mas de Bret, set out to recreate a vineyard on this extraordinary terroir.

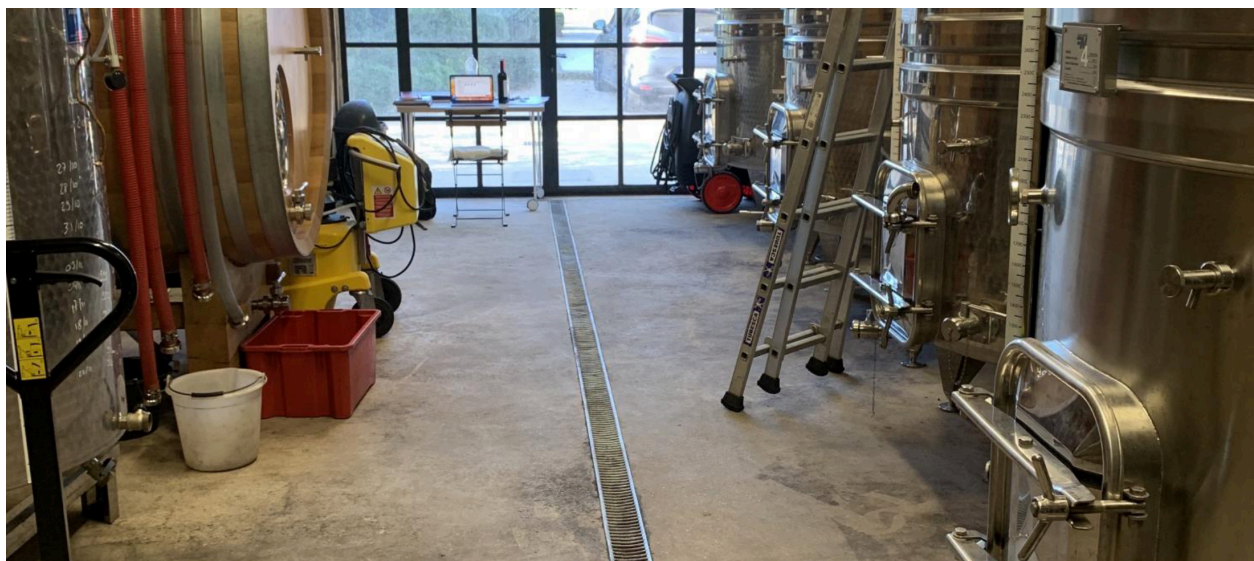

They got it right from the start. By planting the new vineyards with cuttings from exceptional old vines, a viticultural term called massal selection, they ensured that the grapes would be of the best quality for vinification for years to come.

Secondly, from the outset, Mas de Bret was overseen by Éloi Dürrbach, the legendary winemaker at Domaine de Trévallon, less than 6 kilometres from Mas de Bret.

Our morning will begin with a walking tour of the vineyards at 10h30 where the vines should be just budding out.

By 11h30 we will be in their state of the art wine making facilites where everything from crushing the grapes, vinification, aging and bottling takes place.

After the wine tasting we will be seated at a long table outdoors under the wisteria on this magnificent estate.

Our meal is being catered by their friend and neighbor Anne Maureau and will of course be accompanied by the wines of Mas de Bret.

The event is 55€ for members, 65€ for non members, beverages included. Participation is limited to 24 persons.

Please book on <https://www.latabledesamis.com/>.

This event has been organized by La Table des Amis de Provence, a non-profit association that connects wine and food lovers to a table of friends.

Membership fees: 15 € single, 25 € couples
